

Paragon Commercial Bank Adds Robin Miller Jr. to Richmond Advisory Board

RICHMOND, Va. (April 21, 2009) – Paragon Commercial Bank announces the appointment of Robin Miller Jr. to the advisory board of its Richmond location. With his business expertise and extensive knowledge of the Richmond community, the addition of Miller allows Paragon’s Richmond location to continue to develop its local operations and gain further stability in the market.

Miller, a principal at Miller & Associates, LLC, has more than 30 years of experience in the real estate business and specializes in identifying creative approaches to the rehabilitation and adaptive reuse of historic buildings. A certified professional engineer and licensed real estate broker with a Master’s in Public Policy, he attended the United States Military Academy at West Point and Harvard University.

After moving to Richmond in 1994, Miller quickly became a leader in the redevelopment of historic buildings throughout the state of Virginia by combining his experience and vision for improving urban communities. With his diverse expertise, he has successfully developed projects in five additional states including a 125-acre master planned community in his hometown of Kingsport, Tenn.

“We are pleased to welcome Robin as the newest member of the Richmond Advisory Board and Paragon family,” said Mike Keck, Paragon’s Richmond market president. “His counsel and guidance will enable Paragon to continue to strengthen its position in the Richmond market and enhance the services offered to our valued customers.”

Miller joins five standing members on the Richmond Advisory Board that includes chairman Barry D. Crawford, president Fidelity Group, LLC; Steven P. Settlage, president Tascon Group, Inc.; James P. Carreras Jr., P & J Properties, Inc.; Charles W. Tysinger, president MCTAFT, Inc. – Huntington Learning Center; and Andrew M. Conclin, partner Williams Mullen.
